Dr Mary Wood Allen's Lecture.

As was previously announced Dr. Allen was at the South Main street Presbyterian church Sunday morning and was warmly welcomed by a full house of very appreciative people.

Her very presence won for her the respect of the audience, and the manner in which she held it spellbound in the 55 minutes address, as well as the liberal collection which was poured into the basket, proved that no one was disappointed, but on the contrary, the many exclamations of appreciation and the thoughtful expressions on the faces of the people showed that the good seed sown was taking root in the hearts of the people.

IN THE EVENING

the lecture was delivered in Trinity M E church. The meeting was a union of the different churches on the north side. On the platform sat the presidents of the north and south side Woman's Christian Temperance Unions and the pastors of the different churches. The house was crowded and many turned away for lack of room.

Her subject, "The Bequests We Make Our Children," was handled in such a masterly way that no one doubted that Mrs. Allen thoroughly understood her subject and that the many words of praise which preceded her had not raised any false idea of her earnestness in the cause of Social Purity which she represents.

Again the collection was so liberal as to be convincing that everyone was pleased, and the W C T U returned thanks for the substantial appreciation.

These lectures will be followed by others viz

TARIFF TALK BEGUN.

The Senate Takes Up the Wilson Bill

ONLY TOPIC FOR DISCUSSION

Other Measures May Be Pressed Forward, but Not Likely to Be Voted Upon Until the Tariff Bill Is Out of the Way. An Exciting Week Promised in the House.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The tariff bill will be taken up for consideration in the senate today at 2 o'clock in accordance with the agreement arrived at in the committee on finance and with the notice of Chairman Voorhees to that effect and will in all probability be the prominent topic of debate during the entire week. There are other measures which may claim attention, but none of them are likely to receive it without the consent of the managers of the tariff bill.

Senator Hansbrough's bill for the extermination of the Russian thistle appears upon the calendar as the unfinished business and but for the tariff bill would be called up and it is apparent that it could be legitimately pressed until it is another should feel so disposed, but it is fair to presume that it will be quietly laid aside for the time.

Other questions which may press for consideration during the week are the Chinese treaty and the proposed bill for the regulation of the Behring sea seal fisheries.

Senator Morgan has stated that he will probably ask the senate to consider the Chinese treaty the latter part of the week, and there is a probability that the Bohring sea bill will be considered as soon as sufficient importance to call for prompt action. There will be little difficulty in securing an understanding whereby these questions can be taken up for the temporary displacement of the tariff if expedition should be considered important.

The pension and fortifications appropriation bills are also on the calendar and can be considered at any time but they will not be pressed for the present. The tariff bill will be taken daily after 2 o'clock each day of the week or until the morning business shall be disposed of and there will be two hours each day for the consideration of these famous questions which properly belong to that hour.

Several amendments to the tariff bill will be offered by the committee on finance after which the speaking will begin in which Senator Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee will lead off. He will be replied to by Senator Allison but beyond these speeches it is not known in what order senators will be heard. It is quite likely that Senators McPherson and Hill on the Democratic side will speak early in the week and it is known that on the Republican side of the chamber Senators Hale, Lodge, Gallinger, Allen, Hawley, Morrill and Mitchell of Oregon are prepared to speak but it is not probable that even a majority of these can be heard during the present week. Indeed if the speeches should prove to be long as many of them will it is likely that for the present not even all will be heard in order. Senator Jones is also expected to speak on the tariff this week or next.

Program of the House.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—An exciting week is promised in the house. The struggle over the O'Neill-Doe contested election case will be resumed. Although it has been apparent since this case has been up that at least a dozen Democrats were opposed to seating the Democratic contestant the partisan feeling engendered during the last three days of the filibuster has served to drive those who were lukewarm into camp and those who they will probably not vote for O'Neill they will at least feel that votes and presence to make the necessary quorum to seat the St. Louis Democrat.

The English Bilbona case will follow and so far as known the Democrats are united on the proposition to seat English the contestant.

On Tuesday according to the notice served by Mr. Bland on Tuesday it will ask the house to consider the president's veto of the seigniorage bill and will move to pass the bill over the veto. As it requires a two thirds vote to override objections of the president this resolution and there will be two hours each day for the consideration of these famous questions which properly belong to that hour.

STEAMER EMS OVERDUE

She Is Now Fourteen Days Out From Southampton.

NEW YORK, April 2.—No news has been received of the Ems 14 days out from Southampton. Fully 500 people applied at the barge office and at the piers of the North German Lloyd company in Hoboken yesterday to find out if any word had been received. It was with heavy hearts that some of those who called went to their homes. Even the most sanguine now admit that the steamship has met with some accident, probably a bad one as never before has any overdue vessel of this class been overdue more than 10 days.

The officials of the North German Lloyd company were at the docks in Hoboken all day awaiting some tidings of the vessel. The Stadt of the same line which left Bremen on March 25 and Southampton on the following day, is due here this evening and there are hopes by the company that she will be able to tell something of the missing steamship.

In the event of the Ems going south the hopes rest on the arrival of the Teutonia of the North German Lloyd company which is due on Tuesday. The latter traverses the Genoa route, which selects the Southampton route at longitude 17 degrees. She may bring some word of the Ems.

Three European steamships arrived yesterday and brought no news of the Ems. Telegraph wires were kept busy all day communicating with Halifax and St. Johns, N. F. in the hope that word might reach either of these places regarding the Ems. There was nothing from them although the disappearance of the steamship has caused the people there great anxiety and they are eagerly awaiting some news. It is believed if anything of the same nature than the vessel has either collided with an iceberg or had her shaft or broken her shaft and is lying to the south.

BUILDING BLOWN UP

Four Men Killed and Three Others Badly Injured.

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., April 2.—A terrific explosion of natural gas demolished the Wiltsie block on Main street shortly before midnight Saturday night killing four men and badly injuring three others.

The killed are:
Jesse Harrell burned to death.
Henry Lowery burned to death.
Charles Hoover burned to death.
Ora Ball, burned to death.
Injured:
William Pyle proprietor of the butcher shop in the building, where all the disturbance seems to have originated. He was badly burned from the ruins badly crushed, will die.
James Scott badly burned and crushed.
Wilson Land burned about the head and shoulders.
The two latter will recover.

The explosion came without a moment's warning, several of the victims being in the barber's across the street. The ground floor of the wrecked building was occupied by Pyle's memorial parlors, the American Express company's office and the Wiltsie clothing establishment.

The floor of the building rose like an earthquake and fell in a mass of ruins. The first to take fire was the gas tank, which was ignited by the explosion. The flames spread rapidly and quickly consumed the entire building.

Citizens, attracted by the explosion, rushed to the scene, and by the aid of ladders and ropes succeeded in rescuing the unfortunate victims from the burning ruins. Those who were rescued were taken to their homes, where they received medical attention.

The cause of the explosion is unknown, but it is believed that gas, which had accumulated in the basement, was ignited by a spark from a passing engine.

The loss to the building and stocks will reach about $30,000.

INHUMAN WAR METHODS

Brazilian Rebel Prisoners Still Refused a Landing in Buenos Ayres.

BUENOS AYRES, April 2.—Much desperate by their long confinement on board the Portuguese men-of-war in this port and by Portugal's decision not to allow them to be landed on Argentine or Uruguayan ports from Rio harbor attempted Saturday to jump from the ships and swim ashore, but they were forcibly restrained by the Portuguese marines.

A statement from Admiral Da Gama's surgical staff on board the war ships was published in this city Saturday, detailing the pitiful condition of the men, debilitated by six months of warfare and now exposed to the elements on the ships' decks lacking sufficient food, and half clothed with fever.

Advices have also been received from Brazil showing that the insurgent forces have abandoned Itajuba and that the government forces have occupied that place.

It is reported that dissension have sprung up among the members of the provisional government at Desterro.

The insurgent warships Republica and Aquidaban are said to be short of coal and that their engines are out of order.

BISMARCK'S BIRTHDAY

The Aged Chancellor Remembered by His Many Friends.

BERLIN, April 2.—Yesterday was the 79th anniversary of the birth of Prince Bismarck. At an early hour in the morning the band of the Lauenburg rifles and the Alton choral society proceeded to Prince Bismarck's residence at Friedrichsruhe and serenaded him. Throughout the day constant streams of telegrams, letters, gifts and presents of flowers flowed into Friedrichsruhe.

Count Von Moltke, the emperor and the empress arrived at Friedrichsruhe bearing to the ex-chancellor an autograph letter from the emperor congratulating him upon the occasion. The count took as a gift from the emperor a splendid carriage with panniers, which Prince Bismarck immediately donned, remarking as he did so upon the good fit.

The emperor, in his letter which was of the most flattering character, said that the steel of which the cuirass was made was a token of sincere German gratitude to which his majesty desired to give expression by a dedication of armor.

Death of a Well Known Railroad Man.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—Mr. Edward B. Wall, assistant to the general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg died yesterday evening at the Homeopathic hospital. The result of a shock following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Wall was taken sick on Saturday, but no serious symptoms developed until late that evening.

Le Caron the Spy, Dead.

LONDON, April 2.—The spy, Le Caron, who was so prominently identified with the charges against the late Charles Stewart Parnell, died yesterday from a painful malady from which he had long suffered.

PEACE NOW PREVAILS.

No Further Bloodshed in South Carolina.

THE SEAT OF WAR CHANGED

The State Capital and Governor Tillman's Actions Now of the Most Important Interest—The Governor Confident That the Worst Is Over—Still There Is a Feeling That Trouble Will Follow.

DARLINGTON, S. C., April 2.—Everything is quiet here for the seat of war is now changed to Columbia. The adjutant and inspector general of the state troops arrived here on a special train, but no troops accompanied them.

The inspector general under the orders of the governor has traveled over the state endeavoring to raise a force of volunteers to uphold the dispensary law but the indications are that he has met with complete failure on all sides. All classes of citizens are refusing to bear arms against South Carolinians.

The adjutant general has been in consultation with the most conservative citizens of Darlington, and the inference is that they have all agreed to use their influence to quiet the disturbed conditions. A strong determination still prevails however, that Tillman's spies shall not invade private residences.

The spy McLendon who was in jail here was spirited away by his friends and supporters of the dispensary law between the hours of midnight and morning. McLendon was the man who killed Frank Norment and a number of the dead man's friends are searching for him. The spy who was captured in the Williamsburg Rogers has also made his escape.

The local military have thrown up their commission and resigned by letter to the adjutant general.

It is said here that Governor Tillman is in possession of the railroad and telegraph lines at Columbia and that his officers respect every message that is received and no one goes without his authority. Chief of police Conlan is in command of the situation.

Better Feeling at Florence.

FLORENCE, S. C., April 2.—Although there has been no actual disturbance here for the past 24 hours the undercurrent of excited feelings still very bitter and will only require a month or two to allow some of the passions aroused over the present contest to again seat the citizens calm.

The local general store should the officers of the government who are trying to break up resolve for the first time took possession by the courts they would be hunted down by the governor's posse. Elliott, on all the spies, who slapped the face of a woman in Charleston some time ago was pounded to a jelly by the governor. Tillman in face of the most convincing proof of his guilt. The people live here in the efficacy of the law to protect their lives and liberties.

Darlington exercises her independence of Governor Tillman and his laws. The citizens are only too willing to fight and it is believed that other towns in the state will do so to take the cue from Darlington. McLendon who was first shot but not seriously wounded proves to have been skimming and was detained for jail by a friendly sheriff until arrangements for his escape from the county could be made.

The guns of the Florence rifles are still in the possession of the citizens and it is thought by them that should such incident arise as have been recently enacted here they will be ready to use them as they have been secured. The citizens are disposed to surrender the cannon only after they have made but a poor fight, and they will proceed to protect law and order themselves.

Refusing Backing to Tillman.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 2.—Sunday was a rather quiet day in Columbia and while it is very hard to learn the exact situation, much confusion in connection with the dispensary troubles, there is been practically no excitement. Early in the morning Governor Tillman received a telegraph censorship placing several militiamen on the most inflammable citizens. The adjutant general in charge of both police and militia has supervised these instructions. These gentlemen have simply carried out their instructions, and have refused only a few persons that were too dear to arouse bad feeling.

The governor stated that in his opinion the worst of the danger was over. He said that inasmuch as Darlington and Florence were in a state of insurrection he would not call the militia to assist the citizens should trouble again arise.

A courier has just arrived from the country near Timmonsville announcing that two spies were found dead in the woods near that place at a late hour yesterday afternoon.

BURIAL OF LOUIS KOSSUTH

The Remains of the Hungarian Patriot Laid to Rest.

BUDA PESTH, April 2.—An immense crowd of people from all parts of Hungary and many from Austria was in this city. The great center of attraction was the national museum, in which the body of Kossuth was lying in state. It is estimated that at least 100,000 persons of all classes walked past the catafalque.

Several impressive incidents marked the day. One was the visit of a large number of maidens from Transylvania, clad wholly in white, who deposited wreathes on the coffin. The veteran honved Hussars also attracted much attention. The 5,000 inhabitants of Czegled who walked in a body the long distance from there to Buda-Pesth in order to pay their last token of respect and love to the great Hungarian arrived safely and their visit to the hall was one of the noteworthy incidents of the day.

The streets were thronged the whole night with constantly arriving deputations.

The funeral services were held in the vestibule of the museum in the presence of Lutheran bishops, members of the Hungarian diet and the Hungarian magnates. After the singing of the national anthem, in which all present joined, Bishop Sarkany delivered an oration in which he eloquently extolled the patriotic services of Kossuth.

Maurice Jokai, one of the leading Hungarian writers and a member of the diet, followed speaking on behalf of the lower house. He dwelt at length upon the self-sacrifice Kossuth had made for his country concluding with a touching farewell to the dead patriot. His words moved many of his audience to tears.

The burgomaster of Pest said that the grave of Kossuth would become a place of pilgrimage for Hungarians every one of whom felt the deepest gratitude for the services Kossuth had rendered his country.

When the funeral services at the museum had been concluded, the coffin was conveyed to the funeral car to which were attached eight horses with mourning caparison.

In the funeral procession were 20 special cars bearing between 2,000 and 3,000 wreaths. Then followed 600 horses. All wore medals. Included among the regimental colors carried was the celebrated black flag, with 13 death heads in memory of the martyrs who fell in the suppression of the revolution at Arad. Firemen formed a guard on each side.

The cortege occupied two hours in reaching the cemetery. The streets through which it passed were densely crowded. Not a window nor a roof along the route was unoccupied. Last impressions of which is done in Budapest on Sundays was at a complete standstill, all business houses being closed. Everybody wore mourning and the city presented a scene that was never before witnessed there.

When the guard of the cemetery were reached the funeral car stopped for a moment. Only the pallbearers, consisting of 30 members of the upper house of the diet and 30 members of the lower house headed by their respective vice presidents, the honved officials and Kossuth's relatives were admitted into the cemetery.

Throughout the march from the national museum to the cemetery Kossuth's sons Francis and Louis walked behind the coffin. They were surrounded by a detachment of students carrying lighted torches.

The final ceremony, though simple, was very impressive. Several speeches were made by representatives of the independence party and by honveds who served under Kossuth. After the singing of a chorale the coffin was lowered into a temporary vault. At this point a touching spectacle presented itself. The immense assemblage gathered outside the cemetery falling upon their knees and offering a silent prayer. The ceremonies concluded, the crowd dispersed quietly.

ALARMING STATE OF AFFAIRS

Ten Thousand Miners Strike and Bloodshed Almost Sure to Follow.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 2.—Reports from all the reassemblings in the coke region yesterday have been received at the headquarters here. An immense meeting was held at Leisenring. The Frick men who have been counted on to come out are divided. There is to be a convention at Scottdale and the Frick men will wait to see what the outcome may be. This convention will be made up of delegates from the Leisenring, Standard Frick and Joyce.

These meetings and assemblies fully vouched for are that at least 40 of the biggest plants in the region will close down and the waging of another bitter fight between capital and labor. The memory of many conflicts in this region in connection with even less formidable fights than the one at hand have prepared the people here for the war that may come.

Some of the most conservative men in this region who speak from experience with these affairs state the situation as not only serious, but alarming the more so on account of the general destitution throughout the coke country, which in the extremities to which it has reduced thousands here about is little dreamed of by the community at large.

The leaders declare that without taking the Frick employes into account 10,000 men will strike.

Employes of the Cambria Iron company, at the Wheeler Morrell works, have already struck.

It is stated without reservation that after the other coke workers are out, the work of compelling the Frick men to come out will be taken in hand. If this is attempted bloodshed will follow. Frick has 1,500 men at work who are working under a three-years' contract and do not want to strike.

The authorities here do not conceal their apprehension and are preparing to sworn in special officers at a minute's notice.

Greater Than First Reported.

BRISTOL, Tenn., April 2.—The collapse of the large wooden bridge at Bluford, Va., Friday afternoon was greater than at first appeared. Eight men went down 80 feet. Three were instantly killed—Charles Thomas, Edward Mabes and C. Andrews, all white. The wives of two of the men saw the bridge go down with them. T. A. McCullough, the contractor, was also killed. Thomas Price, colored, Will Johnson and James Garnes, the latter colored, can not recover. The dissenter was due to lack of engineering skill on the part of the contractor.

Indications.

Generally fair weather, south winds, shifting to east.

CHANGE IN HONOLULU

The Natives Have Turned Against the Queen.

THE ANNEXATIONISTS CLAIM

It Is Said That the Queen Has Given Up All Hope of Being Restored and Will Favor Annexation. The Provisional Government Expecting Trouble With the Japanese.

HONOLULU, March 14 via San Francisco April 2.—With the past week there has been a manifest change in the political condition of the islands. It may be summed up by saying that the natives are now coming out for annexation. Had the natives been left to their own devices there never would have been any serious opposition to the annexation of Hawaii to the United States.

The advocates of royalty have come to the conclusion that all hopes of restoration are past, and that it is politic for them to acquiesce with good grace. It is said the queen has been advised of the fact that her restoration is impossible and that she will advocate annexation of the islands to the United States in order to save some form of loyalty.

But the most serious problem that confronts the provisional government at present is the attitude of the Japanese and their representative here. The Naniwa, the Jap warship, which has been stationed here for some months, left port a few days ago ostensibly to go to Hawaii for target practice. Many Japs, the Japanese consul general, went with the warship. The Naniwa returned on the 13th and after its coming and presumed plan she was met about 20 miles away by another big Japanese warship, the Takachiho.

During these days since the Japanese arrived several plantations struck. The government thought all the strikers to the number of 70 to sixty and they are now in jail. Japanese are against the provisional government and their consul and other officers here have come all the way to Washington from Honolulu in the recent storm, have reported favorably.

Contrary to the general opinion, few fields were affected by the cold snap. The fields of wheat that were killed will be planted in corn. Many coffee fields were destroyed. The acreage of all grains will be 50 per cent heavier than ever before.

An Average Crop in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, April 2.—Reports from farmers in Goodhue county, the banner county of the state, has been received and it did not come. The secretary of the Minnesota state board of agriculture, which left here to the effect that the grain is still in fair condition and with favorable warm weather though April will yield an average crop.

Who Are Not Badly Injured in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, April 2.—From reliable report received from different parts of Kansas it is now believed that winter wheat in this region has not been badly injured by the late freeze as was feared.

All Right in Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 2.—The wheat in the southern part of the state has stood the winter well and not seriously damaged by the blizzard last week.

TO SUCCEED CONGRESSMAN HOUK

The Republicans Have Picked Their Candidate in the Field.

HAMILTON, O., April 2.—The Republicans of the Third Ohio district met Saturday in convention at the opera house in this city and upon the first ballot nominated Hon. Lucas G. Rothrock of Butler county as their candidate for congress to succeed the late George W. Houk.

It is now stated upon good authority that Judge Boyd Winch ex-Governor James E. Campbell will be nominated by the Democracy at their congressional convention to be held at Miamisburg next Wednesday.

Some Prospects of a Settlement.

DENVER, April 2.—Judge Platt Rogers counsel for Gov. Waite and the new fire and police board, will ask the supreme court through Attorney General Leahy for a mandamus writ compelling the old board to give up the office and records. This is likely to side track lower court proceedings now in a dreadful muddle and settle the issue without further delay.

Family Quarrel Leads to Shooting.

CARROLLTON, Ga., April 2.—W. B. Bissell, a well to do farmer of Heard county, yesterday shot his wife and then attempted to kill himself, inflicting a probably fatal wound. A family quarrel led to the shooting. His wife will recover.

The wisdom of President Cleveland's action in his veto of the Bland bill is exemplified in the following statement made by Henry Clews, the famous New York banker. It shows that Mr. Cleveland's action was the result of careful study of the effects of the operation of the bill which provided for the coinage of the seigniorage silver now in the Treasury voults:

The past week shows distinct symptoms of improvement.

In a general sense, this improvement is due to the many influences that have for some time been working towards a better condition of business, and it is to be regarded as one of those spurts of cautious hope which mark the stages of the steady process of return towards a normal condition of affairs, and which are preparing the way to a really active upward movement in values. There is, however, one special cause for this improved feeling, which is quite important. The general confidence in the President vetoing the Seigniorage bill has had a notable effect in Europe. The main fact which has kept London uninterested in American investments during a very marked recovery in other securities on that market, has been a fixed apprehension lest there might be more or less recantation of the decided anti-silver policy indicated in the late suspension of silver purchases. That is the one point on which the European markets are sensitive and wary towards our corporate issue; and that distrust has been exhibited in almost total cessation of foreign demand for our stocks and bonds for a considerable time past. Even the Paris Bourse seems to have delayed its contemplated admission of "Americans" to its call principally on this account. What has most concerned these foreign centres is chiefly the question as to what may be the President's attitude on the silver issue: for they felt that, if he could be trusted to prove faithful to the policy of the Repeal Act, no serious harm from the unsound money danger could come for the next three years, which would cover these contingencies far enough ahead to serve all present purposes. The assurances sent across the Atlantic that the President could be depended upon to veto the Bland bill, have had the effect of bringing large London orders for bonds and stocks during the past week, thereby stopping the export of gold. It is reasonably argued that if such important transactions have been made in simple anticipation of the President's veto, the demand is likely to prove much larger when the expectation is confirmed by the fact.

Evidence as yet beneath the surface indicates that, so soon as pending obstructive legislation is out of the way and business has resumed its normal course, there will be a launching of new enterprises that will give employment to the large amount of now idle home capital and at the same time attract active co-operation from foreign money centres. It therefore would not be surprising if, twelve months hence, we find the United States and Europe in the midst of a marked revival of investment and speculation. The prospect is contributing to a more hopeful, not say sanguine, feeling; and as the outworkings of these tendencies become gradually more apparent, the spirit of speculation will develop and values will correspondingly advance.

The President's veto of the Bland bill is an invaluable gain towards the recovery of confidence. It is not only a reaffirmation of the conservative monetary policy written large on the face of the Repeal Act, but is an assurance that the policy is safe for the remaining three years of the President's tenure of office. And that is an immense assurance: for, if the silver craze can be held in restraint for three years, ways will be found for neutralizing it subsequently, if indeed it does not expire from its own inherent weakness. Senator Stewart's introduction of a free coinage bill, though annoying, is not to be regarded as threatening in a monetary sense. It may run into causing obstructive confusion of other pending legislation, for the completion of which the business interests are impatiently waiting; but no one better knows than Senator Stewart that his scheme would be squashed by the President, and that it cannot be carried over his veto. It is simply a new display of the reckless and exasperating tactics by which the silver faction seeks to worry the country into concessions which it is resolved never to grant. Whatever annoyance therefore the Senator may inflict he can only score another failure.

Professor Dolbear has been experimenting as to the physiological effects of magnetism. It appears that what is commonly called a magnetic field—that is, space through which magnetic substances pass—does not affect the nervous system in any way. On the other hand, however, when a portion of the human body is placed within the alternating magnetic field—that is, a field in which the polarity is reversed many times a second by alternating magnetic currents—then complete insensibility of the part of the body subjected to this action is produced, and surgical operations may be performed on that spot without any feeling on the part of the patient. This is a great discovery. Patients need now no longer upset their digestion by chloroform and other if Professor Dolbear's conclusion is applied to active surgery.

The Bird That Told.

Some one reported to Willie's mother that that 4-year old gentleman had been overheard using some very strong language. When a proper time came, his mother spoke to him about it. Considerably surprised, he asked, "How did you know?" Not wishing to mention any names, his mother answered evasively, "Oh, a little bird told me!" Whereupon he instantly replied, "I suppose it was one of those blanked sparrows!"—Chicago Post.

Health in Danger From Overstudy—Great Health From Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has benefited people of all nationalities. Testimonial letters are coming to us daily by the hundreds. One of the recent contributions comes from Mr. Shiro Kuroda of Japan, a student at the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst. His letter follows:

"Massachusetts Agricultural College,

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen,—I came to America in 1891 and entered college in the following fall. After the thorough attainment of my education, my object is to return to my native country. But I must not discuss my personal affairs. I wish to the wonderful healing power of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

"I have been suffering greatly from dyspepsia. I always felt tired and had no appetite whatever, often felt dizzy and even fainted away. My trouble was, no doubt, due to my weak constitution and strict adherence to study. Had I continued in the same condition it would have resulted in a snare to my health, or to my college course at least. Last spring I took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is

A Wonderful Medicine.

It gave me a good appetite and strength, such as I had never experienced before. Two weeks after I began to take the first bottle I actually gained ten pounds of flesh, and now I am greatly indebted to Hood's Sarsaparilla for that clearness of my head which enables me to study for hours without dizziness of faintness. It is my duty to recommend Hood's Sasaparilla most highly, as an excellent student's helper."

A Jewish Chautauqua.

To the Protestant and Roman Catholic summer schools and courses of home reading and study has been added a third—the Hebrew. It will be the same as that used by the Protestant Chautauqua Christians except as to theology, where Jewish history, creed and teachings will be substituted. The circle was organized last fall. It includes branches in all parts of the Union, from Mobile northward. Its head is Rabbi Henry Berkowitz, D. D., of Congregation Rodeph Shalom, Philadelphia.

The movement grew out of a visit Dr. Berkowitz paid two years ago to the Chautauqua summer school for recreation. He became so interested in the work there that he proposed to establish a Hebrew reading and study course and summer school. Dr. Vincent and the Chautauqua leaders gave him hearty sympathy and assistance.

Two courses have been started in the Hebrew Chautauqua—one for grown people, the other for children and youth. Young Jewish people everywhere enter into the movement with enthusiasm. They never neglect opportunities to improve themselves intellectually. One of the departments for young people is called the Chautauqua Young Folks' Reading union and is under the charge of Miss Diana Hirschler of Philadelphia as president. These unions give literary and musical entertainments. Fifty cents a year is the fee for entering the adult circles for reading and study. The full course lasts four years.

Naming the Baby.

The custom of using a family or surname as a first or Christian name is one of the newer fashions in naming the new baby and one which is to be greatly commended. The value of such a use should be especially considered by parents in their selection of a name for the baby. Immediate family recognition is one of the first results of such a name. When the family names are famous, their selection is even more appropriate, as they carry on to further generations the names which have made the world greater. When they are reminders simply of the good if not of the great men of an older day, they ennoble their possessor with past honor and present resolve.

Almost any boy will have a stronger incentive for living a manly and noble life if he feels that the name which he wears was borne by one whom all men loved to honor. And any girl will surely be more womanly and conscientious if she feels that her name is a synonym for honor and nobility.—Mrs. Hamilton Mott in Ladies' Home Journal.

Changes Wrought by Time.

It is very hard for the man who comes home late at night to realize that the penetrating and petulant voice which he hears at the head of the stairs is the speech of that gentle damsel who a year ago would have climbed on a chair to escape a mouse. But the whirling of time and custom brings about some strange changes.—Toronto Truth.

According to some old documents recently discovered in the city of Mexico, great treasures of jewels and gold were at one time secreted there by order of Maximilian, and excavation is proving the truth of the chronicles.

Western Irrigation.

Amid the lost splendors of oriental nations of which scarcely more than the name now remains to us was the science of irrigation, and it was brought to a perfection never since equaled. Here and there are traces of vast ditches showing knowledge of mechanical engineering that is unsurpassed in our age. It is altogether probable that the nineteenth century will open on irrigating enterprises quite equaling those of ancient Asia and inducing a fertility never excelled in the land of olives, spices and pomegranates.

California has already tracts of land that demonstrate what can be done with irrigation in what seemed a desert. Other states are following rapidly in the same line. In the middle portion of southern California is one farm that originally comprised 400,000 acres. It was owned partly by J. B. Haggin, although it was too big for any one man to possess all himself. The idea of the owners of this vast body of land has been to divide it up into small fruit farms of from 20 to 40 acres each. The success in growing temperate zone fruits warrants the statement that 20 acres will support a family comfortably. Here will be one way of preventing the overcrowding of cities.

The method of irrigating the 400,000 acre tract is the most interesting matter connected with it at present. From Mount Whitney, the highest peak of the Sierra Nevada, flows the Kern river, through Kern county. It is formed from the melting of the snows on the mountain. This river has been tapped by canals—14 on one side, 13 on the other. These are the main canals. From them flow lateral canals to every farm, 1,100 miles of them. Leading from the large laterals are still smaller ones, lying along the line of the farmer's fields. The water is introduced into the fields by furrows that lie at close intervals. For ordinary field crops three irrigations a season are necessary. One man can manage one irrigation ditch, and eight men and eight ditches can irrigate 1,000 acres a day. For all the water you need, the cost is $1.50 to the acre a year.

This is the real way of praying for rain, and it will probably be brought into requisition more and more in the east as well as west. The Almighty gave man hands and brains to get all the water he needs for himself.

THE NIGHT WIND.

Have you ever heard the wind go "Yoooop?"
'Tis a pit ful sound to hear!
It seems to chill you through and through
With a strange and speechless fear.
It's the voice of the night that broods outside
When folks should be a sleep,
And many and many's the time I've cried
To the darkness that brooded far and wide
Over the land and deep,
"Whom do you want, O lonely night,
That you wail the live long hours through?"
And the night would say in its ghostly way,
"Yoooooooo!
Yoooooooo!
Yoooooooo!"

My mother told me long ago,
When I was a little lad,
That when the night-wind went wailing so,
Somebody had been bad,
And then when I was snug in bed,
Whither I had been sent,
With the blankets drawn up round my head,
I'd think of what my mother'd said
And wonder what boy she meant!
And "Who's been bad today?" I'd ask
Of the wind that lonely blew,
And that voice would say in its awful way,
"Yoooooooo!
Yoooooooo!
Yoooooooo!"

That this was true I must allow—
You'll not believe it, though!
Yes, though I'm quite a model now,
I was not always so.
And if you doubt what things I say,
Suppose you make the test.
Suppose, when you've been bad some day
And up to bed are sent away
From mother and the rest—
Suppose you ask "Who has been bad?"
And in a querl he or she hears it say,
For the wind will moan in its rueful tone,
"Yoooooooo!
Yoooooooo!
Yoooooooo!"

The Original Jim Crow.

Talking of "Jim Crow," how many people in Louisville know that the original was a Louisville darky? It was some time before the war when a famous song and dance comedian, playing an engagement at Louisville, saw from the window of his room a certain darky who was a character of his day, cutting up the most extraordinary capers to the tune of "Turn About and Wheel About and Jump Jim Crow."

The comedian, struck by the possibilities of a performance founded upon this original, made or caused to be made a number of verses to fit this refrain, and thereafter reproduced upon the stage the untutored performance of the original James, to the delight and admiration of thousands. Who the actor was I have forgotten. The darky's name really was James Crow, and he belonged to a livery stable keeper, in whose yard, near the hotel where the comedian was staying, the original Jim Crow dance was performed for the amusement of such as loafed there. I think the hotel was the old Galt House.—Louisville Courier-Journal

PAGES IN CONGRESS.

The Carrots Before Them Are Not In All Cases Very Desirable.

There are lads now employed as pages in the house and senate who have undoubtedly embarked on careers which will revolve about the huge marble building on Capitol hill. Some one of them may live to step into the shoes of Captain Bassett, for instance, the aged and dignified assistant doorkeeper of the senate, who began his services in the upper chamber over 60 years ago and is apparently good for several years more. Some of them may become plain, ordinary, everyday doorkeepers of the house or senate.

There is one man watching a senate door these days who has occupied that one position for 14 years. For years before he began this work he was similarly employed in the house of representatives. The pay of a doorkeeper is not very large, and the distinction which attaches to the place is absolutely nil. The work is not arduous, however, and the man who fulfills it does not have to use either his hands or his brains to any extent—a fact which seems to have had weight with some of the doorkeepers.

If the parents of the lads who are now running about the capitol at the beck and nod of senators and representatives were to be guided by the experience of persons who have held these positions, they might display less anxiety to condemn their offspring to an undesirable future.—Cor. She Swallowed an Umbrella.

A New Castle correspondent to the Pittsburg Times is responsible for this story: Several days ago a cow belonging to Thomas Jennings of West New Castle became very ill. She refused to eat and seemed to suffer extreme pain. Dr. W. Coleman, a veterinary surgeon, concluded the cow was suffering from the effects of some foreign substance in her stomach. He made a large incision in the cow's side, and in doing so his knife scraped an iron substance. After some little work he succeeded in removing an entire umbrella. The ribs had become loose from the handle and worked their way through the lining of the stomach. They were easily pulled out. The handle was next recovered, and to it was clinging the cover of a 24 inch umbrella. How the cow managed to swallow it is a mystery. The cow will recover.

If some people thought twice before speaking once, they would forget what they were going to say.

It is estimated that 5,000,000 of women are earning wages in the British isles.

Traits Inherited From a Stepfather.

Touching our note on "Telegony," we have received a communication which may interest Professor Romanes. It is to the effect that in a certain parish of Wiltshire (particulars of which we can furnish him if he desires it) there is an old woman whose first husband had "bright red, thick curly hair," and their only child had exactly the same kind of hair.

The woman became a widow, and she married secondly a man with "straight, soft, light brown hair, with not the least shade of red in it." No two men could have been more unlike in appearance. Of the second family, there were four who resembled their father and mother—the mother had pretty brown hair and eyes—then came a boy and girl exactly like the child of the first husband, with the self same curly hair, "regular 'carrots,' blue eyes, and similar features."

They are all living now, in or near the parish in question. Perhaps, nay, probably, there were ancestors of the true parents, near or remote, who had red hair, and therefore the case is not quite a satisfactory one, but Professor Romanes may think it worth while to look into it more closely.—London Globe.

Do Not Let Prejudice Kill You.

Do not let prejudice kill you or continue to keep you an invalid because you are opposed to being treated by "advertising doctors," of whom, perhaps, you have often heard the expression that "if they are such good doctors, why do they advertise?" Do you believe that none but quacks resort to the public press to make known the fact that they are prepared or desire to treat the afflicted? If so, visit our office and see the numbers that call upon us every day for consultation and treatment, and then you will change your mind. The doctor who can give you material relief, or cure you, is the one to whom you should apply, and not permit yourself to be swayed into a different course because of any former prejudice, or by the flippant objections of such as cannot give a "reason for the faith that is in them."

We are patronized by a class of ladies, and gentlemen, too sagacious to be imposed upon by any ignorant quack, and they are too independent to be frightened away from the physicians who are curing them.

DR. OTTMAN,

DELPHOS.

Interesting News From the Little Metropolis.

Local Notes and Personal Mention From the Busy Little Burg.

DELPHOS, April 2, (Special Cor.)—Theodore Kempker was in Van Wert on a business trip, Saturday.

Tom Whitrett, clerk of the mechanical department of the Clover Leaf shops at Frankfort, spent Sunday with his parents in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Rossilit, of Frankfort, spent Sunday with friends and relatives in this place.

Geo. Wagner, who has been clerking in Wm. A. Wagner's restaurant for the past five months, left Saturday morning for Tiffin, where he has accepted a position in a large carriage factory as a carriage trimmer.

Misses Margaret Goodsell and Emma Hare returned to their homes at Ashmont, Saturday, after a very pleasant visit at the home of Fred Klein.

Will Hofferburt, an attorney at Kokomo, Ind., formerly a resident of Delphos, spent Sunday with friends in this place.

Frank Morton, who lives east of town, was in Van Wert on business, Saturday.

Dr. F. H. Darby, who has been here for the past two weeks in the interest of the Ohio Children's Home Society, left for his home in Columbus, Saturday.

Mrs. Bob Fitzmartin and her mother, Mrs. Groves, were called to Hume yesterday by the death of Mrs. Groves' sister, Mrs. Anna Culp. The funeral took place this morning.

Jos. Fortner and wife, Peter Fortner and wife, H. J. Wulthorst, John Beck, Louis Leilich and John Hugel attended the funeral of Jos. Krebs at Landeck, Saturday morning.

Geo. Ellis moved his family to McClure to-day, at which place he will go into the blacksmithing business.

Casper Zimmerman, of Toledo, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Conkel, of North Franklin street.

Peter Leis, Democratic candidate for county commissioner, was in town yesterday.

Arthur Fisher and wife and daughter, Hazel, spent Sunday with Mrs. Fisher's parents in Van Wert.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Prill'man, of Washington street, on Saturday, an eight-pound daughter. "Prill" is very proud of the new arrival, and is anxious for the time to come when it can call him papa.

The McClure Free Press says that the Clover Leaf has passed under the control of the Michigan Central railway. The editor of that sheet must have guessed at that, as the officers of the road in this place know nothing of the change.

An east-bound freight on the P. F. Saturday morning carried a car which contained a gang of about twenty bums. They were under the direction of a leader and all wore badges. The trainmen made an unsuccessful attempt to dislodge them at Middlepoint. When asked where they were bound for, the leader said they were on their way to join Coxey's army at East Palestine

Mr. Anton Karteoll will not accept the challenge of Wm. Sautter, as the position he occupies will not allow him to engage in any such sport. He would accept the challenge, however, if he was in a position to do so. Therefore the mill is declared off.

"Asa Jenklas," as presented at the opera house Saturday evening by the Frost & Fonshaw Company, was about as poor a production as has been in the opera house for some time. Their play on Thursday evening was fairly good and gave the public the impression that the company was a good one. They advertised a matinee for Saturday afternoon, but an audience failed to show up and the engagement was cancelled. The company went from here to Spencerville, at which place the manager says he hopes to make expenses at least.

Some miscreant in the southwest part of town has been getting in his work during the past week with the dog button and revolver. Something less than twenty dogs have been poisoned and shot in that part of the town during the last week. Jim Harter lost a fine Shepard dog by the button route. Fred Burkmeyer's Shepherd dog was shot and thrown into his own yard. A couple of finely bred dogs belonging to Cooney Beckman and Henry Louth were also killed. The owners of the dogs have a suspicion as to who the canine killer is, and intend to make it warm for him if he is guilty.

Jim Burns and Joe Homerick had a lively battle at the stock yards Saturday afternoon, in which clubs and stones seemed to predominate. Both of the parties were pretty well jagged and when the battle was at its thickest it seemed to the onlooker that it was raining stones and clubs. As luck would have it, neither of the belligerents were injured and the battle was finally finished by Homerick making rather a hasty retreat from the field. No arrests were made.

To-day is the day for the battle of ballots in Delphos. From observations at this writing, it seems that the battle will be a close one with the odds in favor of the Democratic ticket. The candidates of both parties have been doing some pretty tall hustling during the past week and it seems that the minds of the people have no room for anything except politics and the probable outcome of the election to-day. As the TIMES-DEMOCRAT goes to press to-day before the polls are closed the names of the winners cannot be published until to-morrow, when a full report will be printed.

Mary Leona, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bourgue, died Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents, from brain fever. Leona was eight years old at the time she was summoned to her Heavenly home. She was exceptionally bright and intelligent for one of her age, and was greatly loved by her school mates and teacher. She was the idol of her parents and they have the sympathy of the community in their sad affliction. The funeral took place from St. John's Catholic church this morning at 9:30. Burial in the east side cemetery.

Died, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, of inflamation of the bowels, Theresia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred King, aged 3½ years. The little child was a great sufferer for several weeks, and the physician in charge had firm hopes of her recovery, but on Saturday she grew worse and death came to relieve her suffering. The parents are nearly distracted with grief, and have the profound sympathy of their many friends in this sad hour. The funeral services were held in St. Johns church at 7:45 o'clock this morning. The remains of the little one were interred in the east side cemetery.

Rates to California still continue to get lower.

It was expected that on April 1st rates to all California points would be advanced to full tariff. This may have been an April 1st joke. Instead of advancing the rates have been reduced a few points lower. Anyone thinking of going to California had better arrange to go at once, as the low rates in effect now, will not last long. This is the most pleasant time of the year to make a trip to the Pacific coast.

The Mid-Winter Fair is in full operation. The fruit harvest is just beginning. Now is the time to see California in all its grandeur and beauty. If you are thinking of going, remember that the L. E. & W. railroad is the best route.

Mrs. Mary Hemenway, who died lately in Boston, was one of the benefactors of her city in the most useful of ways. She provided out of her own private means for manual training in the Boston public schools and assisted in the establishment of kindergartens. The beneficial effects of her philanthropy Mrs. Hemenway had opportunity to witness with her own eyes before her death. Such rich people every American city needs.

"Science" In Everything.

There is much confusion in the popular mind as to the application of such terms as science, scientific, scientifically. A young gentleman from the university lately assured me that cricket is played more scientifically than formerly, and that there is a premium of 5 per cent in favor of scientific whist as compared with ordinary good play.

A writer in a recent number of a chess magazine refers to the royal game as "a science, and an exact science too." In a match at drafts the champion was said to have brought so much science to bear upon this play as to make 31 drawn games before one won game was scored. In the palmy days of the prize ring, "the Pet of the Fancy" was said to display more science than "Ben, the Bruiser."

In my younger days I visited Rosbverille gardens, where a man dressed in Lincoln green offered me bow and arrows and invited me to shoot at a mark, observing that "Archery is a pleasing science."—Notes and Queries.

GREENLAND

The Probable Winner in To-day's Contest.

The Smiley People Trading Everybody Off the Ticket Trying to Save the Head.

Wholesale Desertion from the Republican Ranks by Staunch Members of the Party Who Cannot Swallow the Nauseous Dose.

It looks like Mayor Greenland.

The Australian ballot system prevents the forecasting the result of an election with any degree of certainty, as could be done before the adoption of the secret ballot system. However, all the surface indications point to the election of Greenland by a majority of from 200 to 500, the more enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Greenland insisting that it will reach the latter figure.

There has been a great deal of activity among the managers of both candidates, and the result will probably be the polling of a large vote in the city.

The clean campaign conducted by Mr. Greenland is telling in his interest, for many stalwart Republicans, displeased with the villianous warfare made upon him as well as disgusted with the hypocrisy of Smiley, have scratched him and cast their ballot for honest Thomas Greenland.

The Republican managers have a combination slate, composed of Smiley, Adgate and Hites. They are trading off the balance of the candidates on the ticket for this trio, and are making a desperate effort to land them. The other candidates who are being slaughtered in the trade are sore and are vigorously protesting against being defeated by their own collegues on the ticket, but the Smiley gang are inexorable, and say that they will elect Smiley or sink the whole ticket.

WOOD.

Two Arrests on the Charge of Stealing Fuel.

Saturday evening J. W. Kemper appeared before 'Squire Douglass and swore out an affidavit charging Crist Mathe and his son John with theft.

Mathe claims that his boy asked some one living in the Williams block if he could have some pieces of wood lying in the rear of the block. He was given permission to take what he wanted, and later Kemper went to Mathe's house, on West Kibby street, and said the boy had stolen the wood. Mathe took Kemper in the house and had him pick out the wood he claimed and then made the boy return them to the place he found them.

Mathe and his son were taken before 'Squire Douglass and released on bail. The case is set for a hearing at nine o'clock to-morrow morning.

Blaze Last Evening.

About 6:45 o'clock last evening a barn used by Swan Brothers, between High and Market streets near Jackson, was discovered on fire. An alarm was sent in from box 35, at the corner of Market and Jackson streets, and the department responded, but the fire was extinguished without the aid of hose. The blaze was supposed to have been started by boys.

Police Interfered.

The police were summoned to precinct B, Fourth ward, shortly before noon to-day to prevent a fight between Con McAuliff and George Netcher, who got into a political argument that would probably have resulted in blows had it been allowed to progress.

A COLORED VOTER

Objects to Rev. Rockhold's Attempt to Control the Colored Vote.

Editor Times-Democrat:

I notice an article in Sunday's Gazette which was signed by Rev. Rockhold in which he attempts to give advice to the colored voters of Lima as to how they should vote. He also seeks to cast reflections upon other denominations, because certain persons who had grown weary of the Republican attempt to control the colored vote, had signified their intention to think for themselves and vote accordingly. There are some facts which the colored people know concerning Mr. Rockhold's political actions to-day. They know the influence which caused him to write that card; and they know where that influence came from. The card did not emanate from Mr. Rockhold, but from the Republican managers who sought through him to deter some honest colored voters from exercising the privilege of an American citizen to vote according to the dictates of their own conscience.

TO LIMA

The Ohio Southern Offices May Come.

For some time past a quiet movement has been on foot here toward the securing of the general offices of the Ohio Southern road for this city. The following special telegram from Springfield contains the information that it is highly probable that Lima will secure their removal:

The probable removal of the general offices and shops of the Ohio Southern railroad, which are at present located in this city, to Lima, has been discussed in railroad circles today. Mr. H. T. Dick, assistant general manager of the road, stated that if certain conditions are complied with the removal will be made.

The lease on the building which is now occupied by the Ohio Southern offices expires July 15; and the Lima people offer to pay the lease out and give a building rent free for one year.

Mr. Dick also said that Lima had agreed to present the company a site for the shops, and in addition offered a cash bonus of $45,000. If these officers are made good the offices and shops will be removed to that place.

RUN-AWAY TRAIN.

An Ohio Southern Local Leaves a Switch and Runs Nearly a Mile.

About three o'clock Saturday afternoon the Ohio Southern local freight arrived at the C. & E. junction, where the engine was detatched from the train and the crew took the locomotive to the turn-table for the purpose of turning it around. It was supposed that the train was left safely on the C. & E. "Y," but either the brakes were not set securely or some mischevious boys released them, for the train started down the side-track and continue to increase its rate of speed. It run through a switch out onto the main track of the C. & E., and when discovered by the train crew at the turn-table it had almost reached the C. H. & D. and L. E. & W. crossings. Fortunately there were no trains on any of the crossings and the run-away train had a clear track. A brakeman who discovered it near the depot, climbed onto the cars and commenced setting brakes, but did not get the train stopped until it had almost reached the Solar refinery.

The street car accident Saturday night, which resulted in policeman Baker's injury should result in more care being used by that company in regulating the speed of its cars as they approach each other from opposite directions, especially when passengers are alighting, on the double track. It is a miracle that Policeman Baker was not ground to death and a wonder that a similar accident has not occurred before.

Followed Advice and Was Cured.

In speaking of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, Mrs. James E. Busch, of Rosendale, N. Y., says: "About seven years ago I was an awful sufferer from kidney disease. I was so helpless I could not walk a step. My attending physician could do me no good, so I began to use Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and from the very first dose I could see improvement, and it was not very long after that I was entirely cured. My husband used it for dyspepsia and it cured him as well." Favorite Remedy dissolves the excess of uric acid in the blood, thus curing diseases. Many of the ailments people suffer come from this one trouble, acid in the blood. For instance, rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles, and the ills women suffer from, all arises from this one cause, and are cured by taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

POLICEMAN BAKER

Run Down by a Fair Weather Car Saturday Night.

Between ten and eleven o'clock Saturday night, Policeman John Baker narrowly escaped being killed by a Fair Weather car on South Main street. John alighted in front of the Vaudeville theatre, and stepped onto the other track in front of car No. 1, which was going south at a rapid rate of speed. He did not realize his perilous position until the car hit him, throwing him across the track, where he was scooped up by the board which services as a pilot beneath the car. No. 1 is the only car that is equipped with pilots of that kind, and had it been any other car the unfortunate patrolman would have been run over and perhaps fatally injured. Motorman Briggs, who was running the car, stopped it as quickly as possible, and the officer was assisted from his position. Baker's face was badly scratched and he was bruised more or less all over his body, but fortunately none of his injuries were serious and he was able to resume his duties this morning, but with a disfigured phiz.

Two Choice Attractions.

Those who heard Dr. Mary Wood Allen last evening in her lecture, "Heredity," will need simply the announcement of the times and places of her succeeding lectures to bring them to presence again.

No young man or boy should fail to hear "The Twentieth Century Young Man," which will afford an evening of profit and pleasure on Wednesday, at the Congregational church, and the meeting on Thursday afternoon at the West Spring Lutheran church should attract every mother and daughter.

Dr. Allen is the author of the little volume, "Teaching the Truth," and her mothers' talks are the sweetest, purest and most helpful lessons.

For Friday evening the young people of Trinity M. E. church have prepared a musical and literary menu that will tempt all lovers of choice entertainments. Miss Lena Leonard, of New York City, enroute home from a winter at Southern Chautauquas, has been secured, and will be assisted in her program of readings by an orchestra composed of some of the best musical talent in the city.

Miss Leonard is a graduate of the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, and two years' experience in reading before New York and Brooklyn audiences has demonstrated her ability to instruct and entertain.
